TUE PROCEDURE

See FAQ's – www.globaldro.com/UK/search/FAQ

I have checked my medication and it is prohibited. What do I need to do now?

If the medication you are looking to take is prohibited, you may need to apply for a Therapeutic Use Exemption (TUE). Consult the TUE Wizard on the UK Anti-Doping website (<https://www.ukad.org.uk/tue-wizard>) for more information about the TUE process.

Do you need a Therapeutic Use Exemption (TUE)?

It is an athlete's responsibility to be aware of, and understand, the TUE process and requirements that apply to them.

These requirements will vary depending on the athlete's medication, their sport, and their competition level.

Use our TUE Wizard to determine whether, when and how to apply for a TUE.

Make sure to press submit once you have finished using the Wizard to generate a report of your search. We recommend you keep a copy of your Wizard search results should they be needed to demonstrate the checks you have made and when you last made them.

Answer the following questions:

1. Have you checked the status of your medication on Global DRO?
2. Does your medication contain a prohibited substance or is your treatment considered to be a prohibited method?
3. Do alternative permitted medications exist that are suitable to treat your medical condition?

It is an athlete's responsibility to check with their doctor if they could use an alternative medication or treatment that is permitted within sport.

If you have already started the treatment in a medical emergency, then please click 'No' to proceed with the Wizard and find out if you need to apply for a TUE.

Answer of "YES"

If in consultation with your doctor suitable permitted alternatives do exist, please use this permitted treatment instead. A TUE will not be required for use of the permitted substance. Enter your email address if you would like your TUE Wizard Search Results sent to you

Answer of "NO"

National TUE Pool

Athletes defined by UKAD as being within the National TUE Pool of their sport are required to apply for and obtain a TUE before using a prohibited medication or method.

International level athletes, as defined by their International Federation, are required to apply directly to their International Federation for any TUE required.

Exceptions to obtaining a TUE in advance of starting treatment

TUE requests for athletes in the National TUE Pool should be submitted to UKAD for review before starting treatment.

Only in the following circumstances should treatment begin without TUE approval:

1. Emergency or urgent situations (e.g. allergic reaction, exacerbation of asthma, onset of bell's palsy, surgery, admission to A&E)
2. In instances whereby an athlete has started treatment prior to reaching a competition level that warrants inclusion in the National TUE Pool
3. Athletes who require the use of a glucocorticoid by local injection. In this instance, athletes are only required to apply for a retroactive TUE if they are subject to doping control in-competition and they subsequently return an Adverse Analytical Finding (AAF) for the presence of that glucocorticoid. Please refer to our Glucocorticoid TUE Policy for more information.

In circumstances 1 and 2, a TUE application should be submitted to UKAD as soon as possible.

EIBA Anti-Doping Guidance Note

Retroactive TUE Procedure

Athletes who are not defined to be within the National TUE Pool for their sport do not need to be in possession of a valid TUE prior to commencing treatment with a prohibited substance or method. However, such athletes should check with their prescribing doctor prior to starting treatment that:

- the need to use the prohibited substance or method is necessary to treat the diagnosed medical condition
- the diagnosis is supported by relevant clinical evidence such as investigations, clinical examinations, and/or test results
- no permitted alternatives exist (the status of other possible treatment options can be assessed using Global DRO).

Athletes have five working days to make a retroactive TUE application to UKAD following the receipt of an AAF. (Adverse analytical finding)

Clean Sport

Everyone, including Athlete Support Personnel (ASP), has a duty to protect clean sport. The Anti-Doping Rules apply to you too - so don't let one bad decision ruin a potential sporting career.

If you work with athletes - whether you are a coach, physiotherapist or parent/guardian - your athletes trust and rely on your expertise, guidance and advice, to help them to achieve their sporting goals. With your help and vigilance, we can support athletes in their decision-making and reduce the incidents of both deliberate and inadvertent doping.

All ASP need to know the essential anti-doping practices and tools available, to help ensure athletes remain clean.

This is especially important for sports medics and nutritionists, who need to be confident in their practice and advice to athletes at all times.

We know anti-doping can seem complicated and daunting. UKAD are here to help you with various education and information programmes, which are delivered across the sporting landscape.

Here are some helpful links to some information that applies to you as Athlete Support Personnel.

What that means for you

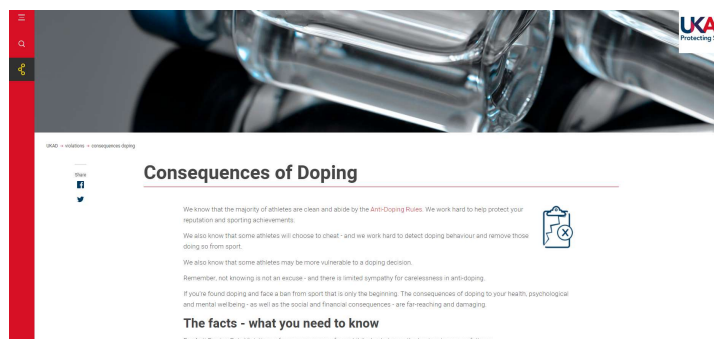

Athletes need to make sure they are fully aware of ALL the Anti-Doping Rule Violations and what the consequences are for breaking them.

Refusing a test, as an example, could lead to four-year ban.

And remember, ADRVs are just like the rules in sport - it's out or it's in, it's an official time or it's not - but that is not everything.

Clean sport is more than rules - it is also how you train and compete in sport, and how you conduct yourself both on and off the field of play.

If in doubt, check your National Governing Body's website for more information on your sport's anti-doping rules.

2021 World Anti-Doping Code Changes

Under the 2021 World Anti-Doping Code, an athlete may be determined as being either a “International-Level”, “National-Level” or a “Recreational Athlete”.

International-Level

It is the responsibility of each International Federation to define what constitutes an athlete as being “International-Level” within their sport. Athletes are advised to check with their International Federation if they are unclear on whether they are defined as being an “International-Level Athlete”.

National-Level

It is the responsibility of UKAD to determine what constitutes an athlete as being “National-Level” within the UK.

Within the 2021 UK Anti-Doping Rules, an athlete that falls into any of the following categories is defined as a “National-Level Athlete”:

1. An Athlete in UKAD’s National Registered Testing Pool (NRTP) or Domestic Testing Pool (DTP). For more information on the Whereabouts requirements for the NRTP and DTP, click here.

Hyperlink - <https://www.ukad.org.uk/athletes/whereabouts-and-adams>

UKAD → athletes → whereabouts and adams

Whereabouts and ADAMS

The Whereabouts system allows UKAD and other testing agencies to test some athletes with no advanced notice. For those athletes it means that you must be where you say you are!

Updating it is critical for UKAD to conduct unannounced, out-of-competition testing, helping to protect clean sport.

Remember: athletes can be tested any time, any place. If you are asked to provide Whereabouts information and do not do so, you risk receiving a Whereabouts Failure and possibly a ban from sport.

EIBA Anti-Doping Guidance Note

5. An Athlete competing at an International Event in an open senior category but who is not defined as an International Level Athlete by the relevant International Federation
6. An Athlete who is a member of the squads and has competed in the events listed in the section below

Criteria 6

Athletes competing in:

- British Isles Bowls Championships (Men and Women)
- British Isles Bowls International Series (Men and Women)

Recreational Athlete

It is also the responsibility of UKAD to determine what constitutes a “Recreational Athlete”. Under the 2021 UK Anti-Doping Rules, this is defined as:

An Athlete who is under the jurisdiction of the NGB and who, within the five years prior to committing any Anti-Doping Rule Violation,

1. has not been an International-Level Athlete (as defined by each International Federation) or a National-Level Athlete (as defined by UKAD);
2. has not represented Great Britain or any other country in an International Event in an open category; and
3. has not been included within any Registered Testing Pool or other whereabouts information pool maintained by any International Federation or National Anti-Doping Organisation
